DRIVEN INTO THE OPEN

Rebels Around Iloilo Unable to Resist American Troops.

MADE ONE SHARP STAND.

Advance of Uncle Sam's Boys Met by a Heavy Fire, but the Insurgents Were Finally Routed With Severe Losses.

Manila, Feb. 15.—Colonel Potter arrived from Iloilo with dispatches from Brigadier General Miller to General Otis, giving details of an engagement with the rebels after the investment of Iloilo by the American troops.

On Sunday afternoon General Miller ordered a reconnaissance in force to ascertain the enemy's position. Major Cheatham's battalion, of Tennessee volunteer regiment marched beyond Molo without finding the enemy and returned to Iloilo.

Kellar's battalion of the Eighteenth United States Infantry, with two Hotchkiss guns and one Gatling gun, marched toward Jaro. Midway between Iloilo and Jaro this battalion encountered a large body of the enemy occupying both sides of the road, who met the advance of the American troops with a severe and well directed fire. The Americans deployed and returned the fire with a number of volleys. The troops advanced steadily, supported by the Hotchkiss and Gatling guns, and drove the enemy through Jaro to the open country beyond. The town of Jaro was found to be deserted, and all portable property had been removed. When the Americans entered the place there were only a few Chinese there. At 4:10 o'clock p. m. Captain Griffiths raised the American flag over the presidencia.

During the fighting outside the town Lieutenant Frank Bowles, of the Thirtieth Infantry, while working the light battery, was shot in the leg. In addition, one private was slightly wounded, and two were slightly injured. The rebel loss was severe. All was quiet on Monday when Colonel Potter left Iloilo.

Two natives attempted to slip past the United States cruiser Olympia during the night in a boat. They failed to respond when hailed, but kept paddling along. After a warning shot, a sentry fired at the boat and killed one of the occupants and wounded the other.

CLEANING OUT THE ENEMY.

Several Sharp Skirmishes Break the Monotony Along Manila Bay.

Manila, Feb. 15.—Several rebels having fired from houses bearing white flags on the American outposts, Colonel Smith, with companies L, D and M of the California volunteers proceeded to clean out the enemy along his front. The rebels opposed him from the brush and several skirmishes occurred, during which nine of the Californians were slightly wounded, before the rebels were driven out.

The work proceeded in a systematic manner, a gunboat shelling the villages and working her rapid-fire guns very effectively on the jungle. The entire California regiment with the exception of two companies, four companies of the Washington regiment, two companies of the Idaho regiment and a battery of the Sixth artillery were engaged. The rebels were driven toward Lake Laguna de Bayo. The rebels held their fire, apparently being short of ammunition, but they fought desperately.

The American outposts in this direction are now fully 12 miles out. All is quite along the rest of the line, with the exception that an occasional exchange of shots between the sharpshooters break the monotony of the day.

GUERRILLA WARFARE

To Be Carried On by the Rebels Who Are Out of Range of Warships.

London, Feb. 15.—The Filipino agents here have received a cablegram from Agoncillo, the agent of Aguinaldo, saying: "The statement of General Otis that he has a copy of a telegram from me, advising Aguinaldo to attack the Americans, is an absolute fabrication. I challenge General Otis to produce the cablegram."

Agoncillo adds that the Americans threaten to exterminate the Filipinos.

The European junta announces that it has received a message from Manila saying the Filipinos have made all the arrangements necessary for guerrilla warfare around Manila, that fighting has been in progress without intermission since Feb. 4, and that the Americans have lost heavily in killed and wounded. Agoncillo's headquarters are now at Marilao, near Calocan, out of range of the warships in the bay.

Mrs. William H. Clapp, a Chicago woman, is engaged in the jewelry business, her specialty being the selection and setting of gems.

NOW BRIGADIER GENERAL.

Colonel Miller, the Hero of Iloilo, Receives Deserved Promotion.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Colonel Marcus P. Miller, of the Third regiment of artillery, was nominated to be brigadier general in the regular army. General Miller commanded the military forces which captured the city of Iloilo without the loss of a man or an arm, and his promotion is in recognition of his meritorious services on that occasion.

PERISHED IN THE FIRE.

Missing Family Whose Absence Can Be Accounted For No Other Way.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—There seems to be no doubt but that three persons were burned to death in the fire which destroyed the Arlington flats. Those supposed to have perished are: Fred A. Marte, his wife and their infant son.

Marte, who was a mail carrier, did not report for duty at the postoffice, and as every source of information in regard to the possible whereabouts of the family have been looked into without success, all hope for their escape has been given up.

Ice In Niagara River.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Above the falls in many places the ice is packed in the river in high piles and extends many feet from the shore. Much dynamite has been exploded to drive it from the inlets leading to the different power plants. The jam in the gorge at the foot of the falls grows with the days. Some of the hills are nearly 50 feet high. One of them is called a mountain and is said to be 100 feet high. Such a large quantity of ice has not been known in the Niagara river for years and the situation is a decidedly dangerous one. Should mild weather set in and the ice move it would undoubtedly sweep everything before it.

Silk From Gelatine.

Washington, Feb. 15.—A report comes to the state department from Consul Frankenthal at Berne, Switzerland, on the manufacture of artificial silk from gelatine. The gelatine to be turned into silk is to be heated at a certain temperature, which keeps it continually in liquid form. The reservoir containing this liquid has a cover with innumerable small openings, through which the gelatine oozes in very fine streams. These tiny threads are discharged on an endless strip of linen cloth running over pulleys. When this strip has traveled far enough to dry the gelatine threads are picked up automatically and wound upon spools.

By Fire and Water.

New York, Feb. 15.—Fire destroyed the establishment of Joachim & Finkelstein, cloaks and suits; Hyman, Ostusky & Co., laces and silk caps; Gustav Mendelsohn, infants' wear; Gustav Reno, laces; Adolph Miller, dress skirts, and the Novelty Tea company. Vankeuren & Thornton, white goods, suffered considerable loss from water. Several firms in an adjoining building suffered from damage by water. The total loss is about $75,000.

Joint Commission Deadlocked.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The negotiations of the high joint commission are at a critical stage, and this fact has caused rumors of ultimatums and of failure of negotiations. The Americans have made a number of concessions on important points to such an extent they say as to imperial ratification. On important points the two sides have reached agreements, but on others they have wholly failed to agree.

Fleeing From the Plague.

Bombay, Feb. 15.—A plague panic has occurred in the southern Kolar gold fields of Mysore. About 2500 coolies have bolted, and it is feared this may lead to a suspension of the work. There have been 60 cases of plague in southern Kolar, and 45 deaths from that disease have been reported.

Prevented an Election.

Harrisburg, Pa., Feb. 15.—The twenty-fifth ballot for United States senator resulted: Quay 50, Jenks 4, Dalkett 1. No quorum, the Democrats and anti-Quay Republicans absenting themselves from the joint assembly to break a quorum and prevent the possible election of a United States senator.

RULED OUT OF ORDER.

Nicaragua Canal Amendment to the Sundry Civil Bill.

HARD FIGHT IN THE HOUSE.

Fate of the Big Inter-oceanic Ditch Is Probably Sealed So Far as This Session of Congress Is Concerned.

Washington, Feb. 15.—One of the fiercest contests of this session took place in the house. The friends and opponents of the plan to attach the Nicaragua canal bill to the sundry civil bill worked assiduously, and every argument which could influence members one way or the other was brought to bear.

Some time was spent at the opening of the session with routine matters. Just before the motion was made to go into committee of the whole, Mr. Hepburn, of Iowa, who is conducting the fight on behalf of the Nicaragua canal amendment asked unanimous consent that the canal bill be made a special order for Tuesday next, but objection was made.

The house went into committee of the whole (Mr. Hopkins in the chair) on the sundry civil bill, the pending question being the point of order raised against the canal amendment.

The chairman of the committee of the whole ruled the Nicaragua canal amendment out of order. Mr. Hepburn immediately appealed from the chair's decision.

Mr. Bailey, of Texas, advocated government construction of the Nicaraguan canal, and Mr. Dockery, of Missouri, appealed to his fellow Democrats not to break down one of the bulwarks of the minority by voting to repeal a rule of 110 years' standing, forbidding general legislation on appropriation bills. He also intimated that sinister influences were behind the present plan.

Mr. Grosvenor (R., O.), in a vigorous speech, contended that the point of order was not well taken, and that the canal proposition could be attached to the sundry civil bill.

On a rising vote the chairman was sustained—162 to 118. The vote by tellers confirmed the rising vote, 127 to 109, and the amendment was ruled out.

Deadlock on the Army Bill.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The senate committee on military affairs has reached a deadlock on the army reorganization bill. This is due to the absence of Senator Proctor who holds the balance of power on the committee. He is in Cuba and went away without leaving authority to vote him on the bill. This leaves five Republicans and five Democratic members on the committee. When an effort was made to secure a favorable report of the bill, the Democrats objected and were able to prevent action. The Democratic members of the committee expect to make a proposition authorizing the maintenance of the regular army on the basis of the increase authorized for the war with Spain for a given time, and will suggest an independent bill containing this authorization.

Senate Proceedings.

Washington, Feb. 15.—At the opening of the session of the senate a bill was passed extending the appreciation of congress to Miss Helen Gould for patriotic services during the late war, and providing that a gold medal be presented to her by the president. The postoffice appropriation bill was reported and Mr. Quay (Pa.) gave notice that he would call it up for consideration on Thursday. A bill was passed providing for the admission to the naval academy as a cadet of Oscar W. Deignan, one of the Merrimac heroes.

Presidential Nominations.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The president sent the following nominations to the senate: Samuel J. Barrows of Massachusetts, to be librarian of congress; David L. Geyer, receiver of public moneys at Boswell, N. M.; George W. Wilson of Ohio, to be commissioner of internal revenue; Colonel Marcus P. Miller, Third artillery, to be brigadier general; William B. Parker, private, company B, First infantry, to be second lieutenant.

Postoffice Bill.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The senate committee on appropriations reported the postoffice appropriation bill, increasing the total appropriation of the bill over the amount as it passed the house to the extent of $382,228, and raising the total to $105,533,638. The principal item of increase is that of $171,238 for increased mail facilities on the trunk lines.

Fellows Still Firing.

Washington, Feb. 15.—A Manila cablegram from General Otis reports seven soldiers as being wounded by desultory firing on Tuesday.

FATE OF THE BULGARIA.

Rescued Passengers Tell of the Rough Experience of the Ocean Liner.

London, Feb. 15.—A dispatch from Lloyd's agent, St. Michaels, Azores, announces that the women and children taken off the disabled Hamburg-American steamer Bulgaria by the American tank steamer Weehawken were landed at St. Michaels. The rescued passengers reported that the cargo of the Bulgaria shifted, throwing the steamer on her beam ends, and although a quantity of her cargo was jettisoned the crew were unable to right her. During the gale 15 horses were lost, and a boat with five men in her went adrift.

The Weehawken, which met the Bulgaria 800 miles from the Azores on Feb. 5, stood by until noon of the 6th, but at that time the disabled steamer had been lost sight of and the Weehawken proceeded.

The German consul at St. Michael adds that the quartermaster of the Bulgaria says that only one of her compartments partly filled, which, considering that she had 11 water-tight compartments, could not mean that she was in immediate danger. But in view of the very severe weather and the situation on board the steamer being so critical, Captain Schmidt thought it right to attempt to put the passengers on board other steamers. It is not known whether he succeeded in transferring all his passengers.

Were Not Sighted.

Queenstown, Feb. 15.—The steamer Majestic, from New York for Liverpool, arrived here and reported having experienced stormy weather during her passage. A sharp lookout was kept for the disabled Hamburg-American line steamer Bulgaria and for the overdue Cunard line steamer Pavonia, from Queenstown on Jan. 25 for Boston, last reported about 300 miles from the Azores in a disabled condition. No signs of the two steamers were seen.

Hoyolista Quit.

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—The sensation of the day in the 6-day bicycle race was the rank quitting of Earl D. Stevens, the Buffalo boy. His trainer whipped him back to the track once, but he sneaked out again, and when examined by competent men and found perfectly sound and in excellent shape to go on, actually lay down on the floor, and would not be carried out. The moment his trainer gave it up as a bad job Stevens donned his street clothes and walked from the building. Hennaant also quit. His quitting was due to a poor stomach, which would hold no food.

Central Pacific Debt Agreement.

Washington, Feb. 15.—A definite agreement for the adjustment of the debt of the Central Pacific railroad to the government has been reached between the government commission and the bankers representing the railroad. It is understood that the plan contemplates the payment of $58,000,000 to the government in semi-annual 3 per cent notes, the last expiring three years from date.

Miles May Be Dismissed.

Cincinnati, Feb. 15.—At a banquet tendered by friends to Dr. S. P. Conner, of the war investigation commission, the doctor made an address on the work of the commission. He created a mild sensation by saying: "If the board of inquiry reaches the same conclusion as the war investigating committee, then the commanding general will be dismissed from the army of the United States."

Effect on the Orange Crop.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 15.—The snow covered all of Florida as far south as Tampa, on the west coast, and St. Augustine on the east. Vegetables were generally killed. It is difficult at this time to estimate the damage done to orange groves, but where protective measures were not taken it is considerable. The trees were in bloom and the blossoms were killed.

Snowbound Senators.

Washington, Feb. 15.—Senator Davis of Minnesota has reached Washington, having been snowbound at Boyds, 20 miles from Washington, for 36 hours. Senator Foraker of Ohio is snowbound at Parkersburg, W. Va. These senators went to Dayton to be present at the meeting of the Ohio Republican league last Saturday.

Court of Inquiry Delayed.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The court of inquiry appointed to examine the charges affecting the character of the army's meat was unable to assemble, owing to the fact that some of the members were prevented by the snow blockade from reaching the city, but will meet some time this week.

Seventeenth at Gibraltar.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The state department received the following from Gibraltar: "The Sherman is coaling here. All well." The Sherman is on her way to Manila with the Third United States Infantry and four companies of the Seventeenth United States Infantry on board.

NEW WARSHIP MAINE.

Her Keel Laid on the Anniversary Day of the Great Disaster.

TO BE A MIGHTY FIGHTER.

Magnificent Dimensions and Armament of the Successor to Captain Sigbee's Lamented Ship—Many Cities Remembered the Maine.

Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—The anniversary of the blowing up of the battleship Maine in Havana harbor was marked here with the beginning of work on the powerful man-of-war which will bear the name of the historic battleship.

The new Maine will be built by the Cramp Shipbuilding company, and at the company's yards at 11 o'clock the first piece of the keel of the vessel was laid. The shipyard was thrown open to the public and a great cheer was given by the crowd as the group of workmen set in place the first steel piece of the keel.

The Maine will be a sister ship to the Ohio and Missouri, the contract price for each of which is $2,835,000, and will be one of the most powerful fighters in the navy. She is to have a speed of 18 knots, with a length on load water line of 388 feet and a beam of 72 feet 2½ inches. She will have a normal displacement of 12,500 tons and a draught of 23 feet 6 inches. Her bunkers will be large enough to carry 2,000 tons of coal, and her complement of officers, seamen and marines will be about 600 men.

The Maine's armament will consist of 4 12-inch breech-loading rifles, 16 6-inch rapid fire rifles, 20 6-pounder and 4 3-pounder guns, and a few smaller pieces. The 12-inch guns will be of 40 calibre and of the new high-powered type, designed to use smokeless powder. The builders will endeavor to have the new battleship ready for launching on Feb. 15 of next year, and to have her ready for service on the third anniversary of the sinking of the Maine in Havana harbor.

Commodore Philip's Present.

Galveston, Feb. 15.—A beautiful sword and Bible purchased by the Sunday school children of Texas, were presented to Commodore John W. Philip, who commanded the battleship Texas during the war with Spain. The sword cost $3,500. The presentation was in approval of Commodore Philip's public utterance after the Santiago fight, acknowledging the sovereignty of Almighty God. The battleship Texas is here, commended by Captain Sigbee, and all officers and men attended the ceremony.

Observed the Day.

New York, Feb. 15.—A year ago Wednesday the United States battleship Maine was blown up in the harbor of Havana and 266 American seamen lost their lives. The event was remembered in this city. Flags are flying at half-mast on the City hall, the public schools and all other public buildings, national, state and municipal, and private dwellings. Nearly all the vessels coming in the harbor, those going out and those at the piers have flags at half-mast. This is not confined to any class or order of shipping.

At the Golden Gate.

San Francisco, Feb. 15.—The first anniversary of the sinking of the Maine in the harbor of Havana was not generally observed beyond the flying of flags at half-mast. The principal business houses and exchanges observed the day in this way, and all the ships in the harbor, including the British and other foreign vessels, are decorated.

Awful Death of an Invalid.

Richmond, Ky., Feb. 15.—Mrs. Garfield Kindred, of Berea, who was partially paralyzed, met an awful death. She was sitting in an invalid chair in front of a fire when her clothing was ignited and she was burned to a crisp, dying in great agony. Two of her children witnessed the accident, but were too small to render any help.

Not Regarded as Critical.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The fact that United States Consul Osborne at Apia did not deem it worth while to forward a cable report to the state department from Auckland by the last steamer which touched at Apia is regarded here as evidence that the situation in the Samoan Islands is not quite so critical as has been reported.

Tauers are all right. Just see how the Standard Oil Company has brought down the price of oil. That's the way a great many people talk. Ten cents a gallon is cheap, they say, compared with the price of oil years ago. They overlook the vast increase in the production of oil. Statistics, it is claimed, show that the Standard could sell oil now at a profit at 4 cents a gallon. The immense wealth the oil magnates have amassed bear out this last claim.

In a communication to the Lexington Leader, William F. Schooler of Washington City suggests Congressman Pugh for Governor. He says:

Believing in the "survival of the fittest" relative to the coming gubernatorial race in Kentucky I desire in this connection to suggest the name of Hon. Samuel J. Pugh, of Vaneburg, for the head of the ticket, and in doing so firmly believe that he will bear the banner of the grand old party to victory and roll up the largest majority for the Republican party that has ever been known in the State.

As the suggestion comes from Washington it was probably "inspired" by Judge Pugh or Judge Thomas.

No Sign of a Break.

Colon, Colombia, Feb. 15.—A norther is blowing, high seas are running and all the steamers have left their wharves. The shipping business is temporarily suspended. There are no signs at present of terminating the strike at Panama.

Died Abroad.

Paris, Feb. 15.—Thomas Burnside, a grandson of the late Senator Simon Cameron, of Pennsylvania, is dead. He had been prominent in social and newspaper circles in Chicago, came to Europe 10 years ago and married an English actress.

New Incorporations.

Columbus, O., Feb. 15.—The Beardsley Manufacturing company, Cleveland, $75,000; the Walnut Hills District Telegraph company, Cincinnati, increase from $25,000 to $30,000; the Cambridge Public Library association, Cambridge; the Home Oil and Gas company, Massillon, $5,000.

Newspaper Plant Burned.

Elyria, O., Feb. 15.—A fire nearly ruined the building and contents of the Reporter Printing company, except the presses, which were only slightly damaged. The loss amounts to $1,000 on building and $8,000 on contents, covered by insurance.

Picked Out of the Sea.

Port Royal, S. C., Feb. 15.—Seven additional seamen of the wrecked steamer, William Lawrence, which foundered off Port Royal Saturday morning, have been rescued by the pilot boat. No names are given. The captain is still missing.

Only Three on Deck.

Dover, Del., Feb. 15.—The three resident members of the Delaware legislature again held a joint session and voted for United States senator. The vote was: Addicks 2, Gray 1.

Another Chicago Blaze.

Chicago, Feb. 15.—The bicycle factory and machine shop of I. Silverman & Brothers, at 109 West Fourteenth street, was partly destroyed by fire, causing a loss of about $75,000.

General Brooke Reported.

Washington, Feb. 15.—The war department received a dispatch from General Brooke reporting the death of three American soldiers in Cuban camps.

Dellenbaugh Wants New Trial.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 15.—Counsel for Judge F. E. Dellenbaugh filed a motion for a new trial. It is asked that the charges be vacated for half-dozen reasons.

The firing of a Cambridge (Mass.) man for spitting in a street car reminds the Louisville Courier-Journal of a story about the famous Tom Marshall. The story goes that just before his first visit to Boston an ordinance had been passed imposing a fine of $5 for smoking on the streets. Tom lighted a cigar, started down street and was arrested. He went before the proper officer, was duly fined, threw down $10 and started away. "Hold on," said the judge. "There is some change coming to you." To which Tom is said to have answered: "Oh, keep the change! I shall want to spit presently."

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

ABSOLUTELY PURE
 Makes the food more delicious and wholesome
 ROYAL BAKING POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

THE ST. CHARLES.

Remodeled and Enlarged, this Hotel Now Ranks Among the Very Best.

Rooms All Richly Furnished—Description of the New Building—Additional Improvements Still to be Made.

One of the handsomest improvements made in Maysville the past year in the building line was the remodeling and enlarging of the St. Charles Hotel, on Front street, west of Market. The house was not only enlarged and remodeled, but was practically reconstructed and has been refitted and refurnished throughout.

Viewed from the C. and O. or from the passing steamers on the Ohio the new St. Charles presents a most attractive appearance. It is now a three-story building, having a front of pressed brick with stone trimmings and windows of plate glass. In the center a large half-octagon bay window from the second story up adds to the architectural beauty of the front. These windows are twenty feet in width, and light up two of the largest and best appointed sample rooms for commercial travelers to be found in any hotel in the Ohio valley. In addition to these there are two other large sample rooms, on first floor.

From the bay windows and the other windows in front, and from the iron balconies guests are afforded a fine view of the beautiful scenery of the Ohio valley, as it spreads out before them for six or eight miles up and down the river.

The building has a frontage of sixty-six feet, with the main entrance in the center, and ladies' entrance just east of it. In the reconstruction of the office a neat tiling floor was put down, a handsome patent sectional steel ceiling put on and it was furnished with arm chairs and rockers, making it as bright and as cozy and comfortable a place as one can find. Among the improvements yet to be made is the fitting up of a reading and writing room in the rear of the saloon. Another door will be cut, leading direct from the office to this reading room.

In the work of remodeling and enlarging, that portion of the old building on the alley was reconstructed from the second floor up, the second and third stories being entirely new. This was extended south along the alley to the same depth as the old ell on the east, giving the new building a double ell, three stories high the full depth.

The present building has thirty-seven rooms, including the two large sample rooms heretofore mentioned. This gives the new building accommodations for one hundred guests.

In fitting up and furnishing the rooms, the owner of the building, Captain Newton Cooper, and the lessee, Col. George C. McMurtry, went to especial pains to secure the very best, and it is doubtful whether there is another hotel in the Ohio valley that can boast of anything as handsome in this line. The finest body Brussels carpet covers the floor in each room, nearly every room presenting a different color and figure. The bedsteads are iron with enameled brass finish, or quarter sawed oak, and each is fitted up with Centennial springs and the patent elastic felt mattress, made to order. The windows in each room are hung with lace curtains, and pretty steel engravings ornament the walls in every room, the papering and painting being in keeping with the other appointments.

The dining room was also overhauled, a steel ceiling put on and the floor covered with the finest linoleum. A complete new outfit of table cutlery, silverware and chinaware has been ordered and most of it is now in use. Fitted up at rear end of the dining room is one of Van's latest improved coffee urns, with eight-gallons capacity, heated by gas, from which guests can be served this delightful beverage steaming hot. Near the urn is an automatic-cleaning water filter of the latest design with a capacity of forty gallons of pure sparkling water a day.

The work of altering and improving the kitchen and pantry will be commenced as soon as the weather will permit. The storeroom is to be moved across to a room on the first floor of the west ell, and then the partitions between the present storeroom and kitchen will be taken out, giving a room twenty by fifty feet for the kitchen. At the rear end of this room an electric fan is to be installed to force all fumes from the kitchen out of the building. The kitchen is also to be provided with steam heaters and all the latest conveniences.

Immediately behind the office desk a baggage room has been fitted up with fifty-five pigeon holes, coat racks and umbrella racks, giving abundant room for conveniently storing valises, overcoats, &c. &c., without having them exposed to view, and so arranged that it will require no time to find any article wanted.

Near the side entrance on the alley a hydraulic elevator has been put in which can be used either for passengers or for handling heavy baggage. Baggage can thus be received and sent out without having it piled up at the front entrance.

The rooms throughout are provided with the latest system of electric call bells, with answering bell. When a call is sent in from any room, the clerk presses a button corresponding with the number and immediately another bell in the room lets the guest know his call has been received and will be answered. An electric fire alarm also connects the office with every room.

The improvements also include bath rooms, wash rooms and water closets, all conveniently arranged for the accommodation of guests. There are baggage rooms also on every floor.

The halls are all heated by steam, as are some of the rooms also, and all the rooms are provided with grates or fireplaces.

In the rear of the east ell a one-story brick addition has been erected, 20 by 25 feet in dimensions, to be used as a laundry.

The cellar was cemented throughout, and is thoroughly drained.

Captain Cooper has spent a big round sum in the work of enlarging, reconstructing, improving and refurnishing the St. Charles, and has spared no expense in making it one of the best and most complete hotels to be found.

Joe Carpenter was the principal contractor and had general supervision of the work. The brick work was done by John Day, the plastering by Pat King, the plumbing and steam fitting by Geo. Smith, the tin and galvanized iron work by Henry Raep, the painting and papering by Geo. Cook, the iron work by the Ball, Mitchell & Co. and John Kane, Jr., the tiling by the Zanesville Tiling Company, the electric outfit by Jones & Young, of Cincinnati, the steel ceiling by the Sagendorph Company of Philadelphia, and the cement work by John Hays.

The lessee and manager, Col. George C. McMurtry, is a popular hotel man, an expert in the business, with a wide acquaintance with the traveling public. He believes in having everything first class, and keeping it right up-to-date. He says the St. Charles is now not only one of the most handsomely furnished, but also the most thoroughly ventilated and best lighted hotels he knows of. In his management he is ably assisted by Mrs. McMurtry. She too believes in having everything as attraction as possible, and has had the yard in the rear neatly platted and sodded, and the coming season there will be a pretty flower and rose garden where formerly was only a barren waste place.

Mr. W. S. Hall is the polite and accommodating day clerk, while Mr. Ed. Forman does the honors behind the desk at night.

The St. Charles bar has long enjoyed the reputation of being one of the very best, and with Mr. Teddy Meehan and Mr. Charles Bland, expert mixologists, in charge, it will of course continue so.

Captain Cooper and Manager McMurtry are certainly to be congratulated on their new hotel. That they are justified in claiming the St. Charles is now one of the most handsomely furnished and best appointed hotels in the State any one will admit who will take the trouble to be shown through it. Their aim now will be to make it one of the most popular.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart, of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in consumption. Four doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman." Trial bottles free at J. Jas. Wood's drug store. Regular size 50c. and $1. Guaranteed or price refunded.

Unusual Linen Selling!

The town is talking linens and buying linens. Even last year's rare bargains are discounted in these, and we believe it's the final price drop the linen market will know for years. Every piece of linen in our store was bought before the regular advance in prices caused by the new tariff and are marked in this sale at prices not advanced. In many instances for less than they can be imported to-day.

SMALLPOX CASE.

Ike Barnes, a Colored Roustabout, Stricken With the Disease—Promptly Removed to the County Pest House.

Ike Barnes, a negro who has been working as a deckhand on one of the packets running into Cincinnati, was taken sick Tuesday night at a house on East Fourth street where he was stopping, and the discovery was made yesterday that he was suffering from a case of smallpox. He was promptly removed to the county pest house in "Sleepy Hollow," in the hills south of the County Infirmary, where the case has been completely isolated.

The house where he was taken ill has been thoroughly disinfected, all the inmates who were exposed have been vaccinated and every precaution taken by the authorities to prevent a spread of the disease.

The BULLETIN warned the authorities some days ago that unless extra precautions were taken there was danger of the disease being brought to this city by some roustabout working on the steamers.

For two or three seasons now a case or two of smallpox has been brought to this city or county, but the authorities by their prompt and efficient work have always succeeded in preventing a spread of the disease.

To be on the safe side, however, all who have not been successfully vaccinated should have the matter attended to as soon as possible.

A Visit to the Famous Capuchin Church Vaults Where Silently Sleep Many Great Rulers.

[By Dr. A. N. Ellis.]

Once upon a time, years ago, how many I'll not say, yet not many, my wandering footsteps carried me through the crowded streets of a foreign city until I came to a weather-beaten, time-stained old church where I halted and rang a bell. After waiting a moment I was greeted by a tall, thick-necked, bald-headed monk in a long black robe who wished to know what I wanted. I replied that I wished to go down into the crypt and see the last resting place of a long line of great rulers. The bald-headed monk in the long black robe bowed politely and said "Kommen sie herein, Mine Herr." He then turned his face from me and marched with a soldierly stride along a long dark passage. I followed close at his heels. Pretty soon we came to a door through which we passed and descended a steep narrow stairway until we came to another door which he unlocked and then lighting a huge torch which he held in his right hand we passed the portal of a number of gloomy, jail-like rooms into which straggled a few faint rays from a solitary sky light. A cold gust of wind that made me shudder with ghostly chill swept through the halls, chattered in the corridors and whispered in my ear that the path of glory leads but to the grave! I was in the presence of all of the dead and gone of the mighty House of Hapsburg since the decease of the Emperor Matthias, who died in 1619. In front was the large double sarcophagus of the brave and intrepid Maria Theresa (1780) and her husband Francis I (1765). Over the stretch of the long and eventful years, it seemed that I could see that courageous soul as she stood before the diet of Pressburg with her infant Joseph in her arms and boldly defied the whole world in general and Frederick the Great in particular. Just beyond rested the Archduke Charles (1847), who fought Napoleon in no less than thirty-nine bloody battles, and by his side Leopold II (1792). In a side vault to the right in nicely decorated tombs were Charles VI (1740), Leopold I (1705), Joseph I (1701) and Matthias I. One cannot imagine a gloomier, more depressing place. What a contrast to grand old Westminster Abbey with its "long drawn aisles and fated vaults," its floods of golden sunshine, streaming through the stained windows—its soul stirring music and crowds of worshippers, or on the other hand to that mausoleum of the kings and queens of France, St. Denis, with its impressive surroundings and touching memories.

Almost all of the coffins—one hundred and nine in number—are of copper though several are of silver, with elaborate workmanship. A number commemorate in baso relievos deeds done long since. Most of the caskets are scattered here and there without much attempt at order, lying flat on the floor, though some are placed on trestles, of which that holding the remains of the ill-fated Emperor Maximilian of Mexico is one. Across it hangs a magnificent Mexican flag with an inscription in Spanish saying that he died a brave knight and a true son of the church at Queratero in 1867. On the head of the coffin lay a wreath of palm leaves (in silver) placed there by the hand of poor Carlotta. Time and space forbid me speaking in detail of all that is to be seen that is interesting in that Royal Capuchin vault. A few notes must suffice. One of the first coffins that attracted my attention was that which held all that was mortal of a once charming and elegant lady whose career attracted wide attention through the whole world. On the inscription plate I found the following: "Marie Louise, Duchess of Parma. Born in Vienna December 12, 1791. Married to Napoleon Bonaparte (at that time Emperor of Gaul) March 11, 1810. Became a widow in 1821 and died in Parma in 1847." A thousand things I had heard and read of the lovely Archduchess came rushing through my mind and also through the force of association of the wonderful man to whom in the presence of the pomp and pride of the great Austrian Capital she had given her hand, if not her heart. The story is well known. I laid my hand on the coffin lid and moved long on the illusions of Time and the mockeries of Fame. There within a few inches of my fingers was the mouldering frame out of which the mighty Frenchman intended should be brought forth a race of rulers who should govern all Europe. By the side of the mother lay the remains of the son, the only issue of that strange mismatched union—that marriage which the captive of Saint Helena once said had proved a precipice covered with flowers.

It is a long coffin for they say he was tall—six feet two inches. The record reads: "Louis Napoleon Bonaparte, Duke of Reichstadt. Born King of Rome, died a Lieutenant in the Austrian Artillery." In one of the Vienna museums you may see the cradle that held him when a baby. It was a present from the city of Paris at the time of his birth. It weighs 600 pounds and is as fine and as costly as gold, precious stones and inlaid work could make it. The Angel of Peace holds a glittering crown over and above the little crib and from it hang the silken curtains that envelop the exquisite affair. Poor boy! His head never rested easy after it left that crib.

There never was a child in the city of Vienna with its millions of people born to rage, dirt, hunger and wretchedness, but that had a better time and a happier lot than the young King of Rome. When only three years old the misfortune of his father began, and from that time he was a phantom on the political horizon of Europe, the Monarchs of which were in sworn alliance against Napoleon and his family and feared that something might occur to either bring back the Emperor from St. Helena or place the Duke of Reichstadt on the French throne, for they knew too well that the Bourbons had not an abiding place in the hearts of the French people. Metternich was at that time directing the destinies of Austria and to his eternal infamy conspired to bring about the ruin of the young Prince. The great dancer, Fanny Elssler, was at that time at the meridian of her fame. She was probably the most popular artiste ever on the Vienna stage, receiving at one time 100,000 florins for a single evening's entertainment.

The young Duke of Reichstadt was given over into her charge, and she led him such a life that he died a broken down old man at the age of twenty-one. This took place at the palace of the Schoenbrunn on the 22nd day of July, 1832, in the very room where his father had his headquarters in 1805 after Austerlitz and again in 1809 after Wagram. Shortly afterwards Fanny Elssler came to America and great crowds went to see her performances. The audience she attracted were only surpassed in numbers and enthusiasm those by the Swedish nightingale Jenny Lind.

It is easy to deal in homilies and moralize over the misfortunes of fallen greatness, blasted hopes and all that is deepest and darkest in human life and human destiny, standing in that gloomy place of tombs amid the relics of olden times and with the ghostly twilight of the dead years falling across my soul. I pondered sadly over the failure of well laid plans and daring ambitious projects. Finally I turned away from the bones of the poor dead woman and her unfortunate child, whose story had always interested me so much, and as the tall, red-faced, thick-necked monk in the long black robe led me out of the crypt up the flight of stairs and along the narrow hall I felt that a heavy weight was lifted from my heart and brain, when once more I felt the cool air of the street upon my cheek.

The above lines were written shortly after my return from Germany in 1879. In 1890 the learned and accomplished historian Imbert De Saint Amant published four volumes on the life and times of Marie Louise. In the introduction to the first volume we find the following: "If Marie Louise is not a very sympathetic figure, no story is more touching or more melancholy than that of her son's life and death. It is a tale of hope deceived by reality, of youth and beauty cut down in their flower; of the innocent paying for the guilty; of the victim marked by fate for the expiation of others. One might say that he came into the world only to give a lasting example of the instability of human greatness. When he was at the point of death, worn out with suffering he said sadly 'my birth and my death comprise my whole history.'"

But this short story is perhaps richer in instruction than the longest reigns. The Emperor's son will be known for many ages by his three titles—the King of Rome, Napoleon II and the Duke of Reichstadt. He had already inspired great poets and given to philosophers and Christians occasion for profound thought. His memory is indelibly bound up with that of his father and posterity will never forget him. Even those who are most virulent against Napoleon's memory feel their wrath melt when they think of his son, and when of the Church of the Capuchin in Vienna a monk lights with a flickering torch the dark tomb of the great Captain's son, who lies by the side of his grandfather, Francis II, who was at once his protector and his jailer, deep thoughts arise as one considers the vanity of political calculations, the emptiness of glory, of power and of genius.

Opened the Lines.
Philadelphia, Feb. 15.—The railroad companies have succeeded in opening travel over all lines, and the officers are of the opinion that the full schedules of passenger trains can be resumed, and that freight and coal trains may also be set in motion.

A CLOSE CALL.

American Cruiser and an Ocean Liner Narrowly Avoid Collision at Sea.
New York, Feb. 15.—The passengers of the Cunarder, Etruria, which has arrived here, had the exciting experience on Monday morning of narrowly avoiding a collision with the United States cruiser Marblehead.

At 10 o'clock on the morning named when about 70 miles from Sandy Hook, the officers on the bridge of the Cunarder were startled by the apparition, as Captain Ferguson described it, of a large vessel looming out of the thick clouds of driving sleet and snow on the port bow, only a few lengths ahead of the Etruria, and making directly across the bows of the latter vessel. Chief Officer Barr was the officer on the watch and was on the bridge with Captain Ferguson. Instantly Mr. Barr divining the danger that threatened, signalled to reverse the engines. Then, when the Etruria had slowed down to a standstill, the order was given to go full speed ahead, and with the helm hard-a-starboard the Cunarder passed closely under the stern of the Marblehead.

So close, in fact, were the two vessels that despite the mist the officers on the bridges waived their hands to one another, in thankfulness of the escape from the collision which for a few minutes seemed so imminent.

Clouds Have Passed.

Washington, Feb. 15.—A clear, sunny sky, a temperature 20 degrees above zero and a light breeze were the weather conditions in Washington. In the main business streets large gangs of business men were at work cutting away the snow. The principal street railroads were again in operation, blockaded householders appeared on the streets, and business in many lines was resumed. The steam railroads are making heroic efforts to clear their lines, and to a limited extent traffic has been resumed.

Railway Traffic Resumed.

New York, Feb. 15.—There was somewhat of an improvement in the outlook for resuming travel on the Pennsylvania system. The first train for Pittsburg in two days left, and the Chicago limited was also started for the west.
